Jay Connor,

Plaintiff,

Vs.

David Wishnia and John Does 1-10

Defendants.

C/A No: 2:24-CV-6310-JD-MGB

COMPLAINT

JURY TRIAL REQUESTED

Plaintiff complaining of the Defendants alleges as follows:

TYPE OF ACTION

1. This is an action to recover statutory damages imposed by 47 U.S.C. § 227, and trebled damages constituting forfeiture or other penalty and S.C. Code Section § 37-21.

PARTIES

2. Plaintiff is a resident of Charleston County, South Carolina.

3. The calls alleged in this complaint were made to Plaintiff's wireless phone line in South Carolina.

4. Defendant David Wishnia ("Wishnia") is an individual who resides in Florida.

5. Upon information and belief, Wishnia's principal office is located at 4500 Salisbury Road, Suite 307 Jacksonville, FL 32216.

6. Wishnia sends texts to residents of South Carolina.

7. Wishnia calls residents of South Carolina.

8. Wishnia conducts and transacts business in South Carolina.

9. The true identity of John Does 1-10 are unknown at this time.

VENUE AND JURISDICTION

10. This cause of action arises out of conduct of Defendants initiating telephone solicitations via texts to Plaintiff's wireless telephone number in Charleston County South Carolina.

11. Plaintiff is a resident of Charleston County.

12. Pursuant to Mims v. Arrow Fin. Services. LLC 565 U.S. 368, 372 (2012), this court has federal-question subject matter jurisdiction over Plaintiff's TCPA claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 because the TCPA is a federal statute. This Court has supplemental subject matter jurisdiction over Plaintiff's claim arising under the South Carolina Telephone Privacy Protection Act, S.C. Code Section 37-21, because the state claims arise from the same nucleus of operative fact, i.e., Defendants' telemarketing calls to Plaintiff, and add little complexity to the case. Furthermore, pursuant to Section 37-21-100, "Nothing in this chapter must be construed to limit any remedies, causes of action, or penalties available to a person or governmental agency under another federal or state law."

The Telephone Consumer Protection Act

13. "Telemarketing calls are intrusive. A great many people object to these calls, which interfere with their lives, tie up their phone lines, and cause confusion and disruption on phone records. Faced with growing public criticism of abusive telephone marketing practices, Congress enacted the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991. Pub. L. No. 102-243, 105 Stat. 2394 (1991) (codified at 47 U.S.C. § 227). As Congress explained, the law was a response to Americans 'outraged over the proliferation of intrusive, nuisance calls to their homes from telemarketers’ id. § 2(6), and sought to strike a balance between ‘[i]ndividuals’ privacy rights, public safety interests, and commercial freedoms’ id. § 2(9).

14. “The law opted for a consumer-driven process that would allow objecting individuals to prevent unwanted calls to their homes. The result of the telemarketing regulations was the national Do-Not-Call registry. See 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(c)(2). Within the federal government’s web of indecipherable acronyms and byzantine programs, the Do-Not-Call registry stands out as a model of clarity. It means what it says. If a person wishes to no longer receive telephone solicitations, he can add his number to the list. The TCPA then restricts the telephone solicitations that can be made to that number. See id.; 16 C.F.R. § 310.4(b)(iii)(B) (‘It is an abusive telemarketing act or practice and a violation of this Rule for a telemarketer to . . . initiat[e] any outbound telephone call to a person when . . . [t]hat person’s telephone number is on the “do-not-call” registry, maintained by the Commission.’)...Private suits can seek either monetary or injunctive relief. Id....This private cause of action is a straightforward provision designed to achieve a straightforward result. Congress enacted the law to protect against invasions of privacy that were harming people. The law empowers each person to protect his own personal rights. Violations of the law are clear, as is the remedy. Put simply, the TCPA affords relief to those persons who, despite efforts to avoid it, have suffered an intrusion upon their domestic peace.” Krakauer v. Dish Network, L.L.C., 925 F.3d 643, 649-50 (4th Cir. 2019).

15. The TCPA provides a private right of action under section 47 U.S.C § 227 (c)(5) for a person who has received more than one telephone call within any 12-month period by or on behalf of the same entity in violation of the regulations prescribed under the subsection.

The South Carolina Telephone Privacy Protection Act

16. On May 18, 2018, the State of South Carolina signed into law the South Carolina Telephone Privacy Protection Act, S.C. Code § 37-21-10, et seq.

17. The SCTPPA definition of “telephone solicitation” includes telephone calls and text or media messages sent to offer a good or service to a wireless telephone with a South Carolina area code.

18. The SCTPPA requires that “at the outset of a telephone solicitation, a telephone solicitor shall provide...the name of the person on whose behalf the telephone solicitation is being made.” 37-21-40(A).

19. The SCTPPA prohibits, inter alia, a party from initiating, or causing to initiate, a telephone solicitation to a South Carolina telephone number that has been listed on the National Do Not Call Registry. See S.C. Code § 37-21-70.

20. The SCTPPA provides a private right of action under section S.C. Code § 37-21-80 for a person who has received a telephone call in violation of the regulations prescribed under the statute.

Factual Allegations

21. The telemarketing campaign alleged herein included placing multiple solicitation calls (the “Calls”) to Plaintiff’s number to sell solar panels via text message.

22. Defendant Wishnia placed the alleged Calls to Connor’s wireless number.

Telephone calls to Plaintiff

23. Plaintiff Connor is a “person” as defined by 47 U.S.C. § 153(39).

24. Plaintiff is the sole subscriber to the wireless telephone number (843) XXX-XXXX.

25. Plaintiff uses the cellular telephone as a personal residential number.

26. Plaintiff placed the number (843) XXX-XXXX on the National Do Not Call Registry in 2021.

27. Plaintiff never consented to receive calls from Defendants.

28. Under the TCPA, as confirmed by the Supreme Court, text messages are “calls” for the purposes of the TCPA. Campbell-Ewald Co. v. Gomez, 577 U.S. 153, 153 (2016).

29. On or about October 14, 2024, Defendants placed two text messages (the “Calls”) to Plaintiff’s wireless telephone number 843-XXX-XXXX.

30. The first message read, “Hi Jay, my name is Katrina from Sunlight Solar.. I am just checking out if you are still interested in getting a proposal about no money out of pocket Solar P”

31. The second message read, “rogram. Thank you”

32. The Defendant used a third-party lead company to send the text messages.

33. As evidenced through the plain text message, the message also did not identify the sender by first and last name, nor did it identify the true identity of the Defendants.

34. The text messages received by Plaintiff were sent for the purpose of encouraging the purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods, or services as they seek to have him purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods, or services as they seek to have him purchase the Defendants’ solar services.

35. The calls were nonconsensual encounters.

36. Plaintiff never did business with the Defendants.

37. Plaintiff’s privacy has been violated by the above-described telemarketing messages.

38. The text messages to the Plaintiff were unwanted.

39. Plaintiff immediately suspected the text messages were unsolicited because the first message included the person's name "Katrina", and the company name "Sunlight Solar", a person and company Plaintiff had not done business with or consented to receive calls from.

40. Plaintiff responded to the message to identify the sender, and almost immediately received a follow-up call from David Wishnia, who attempted to set a solar sales appointment with Plaintiff.

41. Wishnia confirmed his involvement to Plaintiff and sent an email to Plaintiff requesting additional information re: Plaintiff's current electric bills.
